Class History

As we, the Senior class of '55, look back over four long years of high school life, many varied and distinct memories come to our minds. We think of the banquet, a wet R.E.A. picnic, class meetings, study halls, classes, and the other thousand-and-one things that make up high school life.

It all began in the fall of 1951, when ninety-odd Freshmen entered the doors of that fabulous seat of learning, Mocksville High. It didn't take us long to get settled in the daily grind of classes, and by the time we elected Evona York our class president, high school life didn't bother us a bit.

On the Student Council that year representing us Freshmen were Ann Kurfees and Shirley Jones. About the only other thing of importance we did that year was at Halloween when Jack Jolly and Ann Kurfees were our King and Queen. They rode on a world which had signs boasting, "Sitting on Top of the World."

The next fall a few less students answered a sophomore roll call, but our class still was large enough to give our teachers plenty of headaches. We got right down to work without any delay and elected Ed Rowland as our class president.

Before we got settled in school, we had to interrupt the football season for Halloween. We elected Johnny Braswell and Lena Cornatzer as our candidates, and we built a replica of the front of a king's palace for our Cinderella theme. At the carnival we all worked our fingers to the bone — but it was worth it, Johnny Braswell was crowned King!

On the Student Council that year helping to write the Constitution were Gail Davis and Barbara Everhart.

President Harrell Powell engineered the project that created this document, but our representatives were in there with their advice and help all the time.

Another summer passed quickly and in the fall of 1953 an inspired group of juniors settled down to work. The reason for the inspiration? An annual affair the juniors are privileged to conduct — the R.E.A. picnic. All of us did a good bit of back-breaking labor that rainy day in the concession stand, but it had its reward—we cleared over $300.

Johnny Braswell rising to the top of the class was elected class president. Then the class chose J. C. Clontz and Doris Jones our King and Queen in preparation for the forthcoming Halloween carnival.

We worked hard on the float that year! Our theme was "Sleeping Beauty." It didn't win first place, only second!

Giving expert advice to the Student Council members that year were our representatives, Marietta Rummage and Ed Rowland.

Christmas soon passed that busy year, and before we knew it, banquet time was right around the corner. The class got busy, and finally settled everything about it.

We took the seniors on a make-believe journey back to the days of the Old South at Magnolia Villa (in reality the Woman's Club in Thomasville). Johnny Braswell, our very efficient president, was the master of ceremonies.

Later that spring our first major attempt in acting was presented to an auditorium full of laughing people. Why were they laughing? Our production of "The Campbells are Coming" was hailed all over town as a very hilarious comedy — with hillbillies yet!

Our class did one more thing before adjourning for the summer. We ordered our rings. Where previous classes had stuck to red and blue stones, we branched out to the prettiest of all, black. We also changed the design on the side of the rings, placing a Wildcat there instead of a lamp of knowledge, which we figured we didn't need.

Then we were seniors!

How did we feel as we entered the doors of high school for the last year? There was a little sadness as we remembered all the things we would do no more, but the joy of graduating will more than make up for what we miss.

To handle the important tasks that we would face we elected as our president Johnny Braswell.

Then a little later Johnny won the important post of Student Council President in a heated election between Doris Jones and himself. Ed Rowland was picked by the class to be the other senior representative on the council.

At Halloween time this year we elected Eddie Waters and Alice Faye Ellis as our candidates for King and Queen. They rode in a parade on a float with a sea motif, showing to the multitudes they were truly a "Pearl of a Pair." The float won second prize..

As we look back over our four years in high school, a lot of "ifs" crowd into our minds. But we'll never know! Because so many classes drop into obscurity soon after they leave school, we wonder if we will, or if the school will remember us. We hope they will!

Last Will and Testament

We, the members of the Senior Class of nineteen hundred fifty-five, of the city of Mocksville, State of North Carolina, being of sound mind, and realizing that we must depart from our beloved high school, do declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

I, Shelby Jean Allen, will my naturally-curly hair to Jane Allen, just to keep it in the family.

I, Donna Lee Anderson, will my ability to take teasing with a smile, to anyone who needs it.

I, Constance Bernice Atwood, leave my pleasing personality to Hazel Clement.

I, Dreisa Ann Barnette, will my position as manager of the basketball team to anyone who likes slicing oranges.

I, Betty Grey Beauchamp, will my "whispers" to Peggy Harris.

I, Virginia Grey Boger, leave my "secret giggles" to Doris McDaniel to help keep her out of trouble.

I, John Samuel Braswell III, will my nickname, "Crazylegs," to anyone who will live up to it.

I, Johnny Calvin Clontz, bequeath my love for sports to Bailey Walker, provided he will support the teams as I have.

I, Ola Mae Cook, leave my task of typing for the annual and Hi-Life to anyone with six hands.

I, Peggy Louise Cook, will my ever-ready helping-hand to Linda Crawford to go with hers.

I, Lena Grey Cornatzer, bequeath my posistion as center-forward to Carol Miller.

I, Alice Faye Ellis, will my title of "cutest" to Kathryn Plott.

I, Barbara Everhart, bequeath my friendly smile to Mary Lou Quillen, although hers can't be beat.

I, Carol Forrest, leave my capacity for learning short-hand to any struggling underclassman.

I, Clara Sykes Graham, will my wit to Ann Taylor in hopes she will be as happy with it as I am.

I, Edrie Greene, leave my title of "best-dressed" to Chiquita Murray.

I, Joyce Marie Green, bequeath my ability to tell interesting book reports to Terry Shutt.

I, Charles Wayne Hendricks, leave my oratorial capacity to Eugene Flowers, in hopes he will put it to use more than I have.

I, Edward Lee Hooper, will my "Book-Worm" and Beta Club positions to Samuel Quincy Powell, provided he passes it on.

I, Doris Jane Jones, will my position as editor of "Hi-Life" to anyone who is willing to try his best.

I, Shirley Mae Jones, bequeath my ability to get-my-man to Ann Richardson

I, Elizabeth Ann Kurfees, bequeath my peppiness to anyone lacking it.

I, Sylvia Ann Laird, will my serious ways to Doris Peoples in hopes she will be as happy as I.

I, Mary Belle Lanier, leave my ability to sew to Floretta Collette who claims she can't sew a stitch.

I, Wayne Eugene Leonard, will my "flattering" tongue to any poor boy without a girl. Flattery gets you everywhere.

I, Mary Nell McClamrock, leave my height to "T" Haynes — every little inch counts.

I, Alice Marie McDaniel, will my talkative nature to Veona Welborn; however, she does not need it.

I, Billy Gene Melton, for Miss Martin's sake, bequeath my "shop" ability to Johnny Etchinson.

I, Bettie Sue Messick, leave my "strawberry-blonde" hair to Charles, my brother — no peroxide.

I, Ann Anderson Owings, will my nickname of "Blondie" to Alice Anderson.

I, Margaret Marie Pendry, bequeath my abilities in library work to Betty Edwards.

I, Wade Junior Richardson, leave my willingness to work to Jimmy Kelly.

I, James Norman Riddle, leave to Billy Sell the responsibility of supplying girls with chewing gum.

I, George Edward Rowland, will my talents in journalism to anyone who will "push it."

I, Marietta Rummage, bequeath my position in the Commercial Club to someone who will work at it as I have.

I, Gail Diann Sheek, will my pleasant disposition to Sylvia Stroud.

I, Deanna Alexandria Silverdis, bequeath my ability to always have something to say and my beloved cheerleader outfit to anyone who will use it and love it as much as I have.

I, Troy Wilson Taylor, leave my ability to write interesting themes to Helen Poston.

I, Marcle Joett Thomas, will my happy expression and blue eyes to Marcia Lagle.

I, Billy Watson Trivette, will my mannerisms to Dallas Groce.

I, Harold Gene Trivette, leave my little-but-loud ways to J. T. Smith.

I, Mary Elsie Turner, bequeath my ability to stay "tiny" to Marie, to keep it in the family.

I, Samuel Edwin Waters, Jr. will my position on the football team to Jimmy Spillman.

I, George Winters, leave my position and uniform in basketball to Henry Shutt.

I, Lessie Evona York, will to Janice Smoot the care of our beloved Letitia Longnose, trusting that Janice will keep Letitia always snooping for news for more nuts.

I, Jane Carol York, bequeath my love for sports to Martha McDaniel to add to her love for them.

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1955, do hereby proclaim this to be the only valid statement of our Last Will and Testament.

Prophecy

Magnolia Villa
North Carolina
May 26, 1971

Dear Jim,

What a wonderful vacation this has been so far! I arrived here at Magnolia Villa day before yesterday, and I think it is just the most wonderful resort imaginable. The town is small and sleepy, seemingly shut away from all the hurry and bustle of the outside world.

I'm staying at the Log Cabin Inn, which is owned and operated by BILL TRIVETTE. My room looks out across a beautiful artificial lake bordered by stately trees. That lake is a miracle of modern engineering. When EDWARD HOOPER, the now-famous engineer, announced that such a lake could be built, other engineers scoffed at the idea. Hooper did build his lake, however, and gained great prestige in his chosen field.

I had hardly unpacked and settled down for a nap after my trip on one of the Richardson Air Liners (WADE RICHARDSON'S Company), when I heard such a banging and clattering as I never heard before. I was scared nearly out of my wits, so I called the desk clerk, MARY NELL McCLAMROCK, to find out what was the matter. It turned out to be Mrs. R. H. Denbeigh-Charles (the former EDRIE GREENE) and her two young sons moving in for the summer. Thank goodness, the youngsters spend most of their time at the Lakeside Kiddie Park. There they bother nobody but the park director, SYLVIA LAIRD.

When I went down for dinner last night, whom should I meet but ANN KURFEES, who is taking a short vacation from her work as choreographer for CLARA GRAHAM CORRIHER'S new Broadway musical, "Linda and the Latin," starring TROY TAYLOR and MARY TURNER. Ann tells me that several of my old friends are with the company. DREISA BARNETTE is producer; SHIRLEY JONES is director; CHARLES HENDRICKS designed the sets; and DONNA ANDERSON wrote the musical score. JANE YORK plays the Spanish senorita who moves next door, and DEANNA SILVERDIS is cast as her match-making mother.

After dinner, Ann and I went out on the veranda for a quiet chat. A few feet away from us sat a distinguished-looking gentleman reading a newspaper with a picture of Senator JOHN S. BRASWELL on the front page. The familiar look of our fellow-guest led me to ask Ann who the guest was. Imagine my confusion when she informed me that this was ED ROWLAND, editor of the "New York Times." Think of forgetting him!

This morning I drove over to Magnolia Villa itself. It is just as beautiful as ever. The preservation of Magnolia Villa as a symbol of our heritage was begun as a project of the North Carolina Historical Society, of which CAROL FORREST was, and still is, president. She was aided in her research by MARGARET PENDRY, State Librarian. Within a year's time architect NORMAN RIDDLE and his staff were at work on the restoration. BILL MELTON landscaped the grounds, and CONSTANCE ATWOOD was the consultant on interior decorating. The result was an historical shrine of breath-taking beauty and absolute authenticity.

At the gate of the rail fence which surrounds the Magnolia Villa, I left my car to be parked by an attendant and allowed myself to be helped into a quaint surrey, one of six donated to the Historical Society by General GEORGE B. WINTERS.

Upon reaching the magnificent mansion, I was met by the hostess, SHELBY ALLEN, who handed me a pamphlet describing Magnolia Villa and giving its history. Looking more closely, I saw that the pamphlet was written by ANN OWINGS, secretary of the Historical Society.

I walked into the spacious hall and gazed at the painting hanging above a carved oak table. It showed a banquet at Magnolia Villa, with the gentlemen all in their very best and the ladies looking like Dresden dolls in their delicate finery. JOYCE GREEN, MARCLE THOMAS, MARIE McDANIEL, MARY BELLE LANIER, and VIRGINIA BOGER, all of whom by the way, are happily married and living here in town, smiled out at me. How familiar the painting technique seemed! Could it really be? Yes, it was, for down in the lower right-hand corner were the tiny initials E. W. — EDWIN WATERS! Here in Magnolia Villa was the original of "The Banquet" — the painting that had fairly rocked modern art circles back on their heels with its daring departures from accepted styles in painting. Why, his people actually looked real, Jim!

I wandered through the familiar rooms and out into the garden where BARBARA EVERHART, one of the town's social leaders, was directing the serving of refreshments. I was so delighted with the little cakes decorated to look like Confederate flags, I asked Barbara where they were made. She said they came from MARIETTA RUMMAGE'S Bakery.

J. C. CLONTZ, the mayor of Magnolia Villa, says visitors often become confused because the town and the mansion have the same name. The town, of course, takes its name from the mansion, but a few tourists still have trouble keeping the two places separate. For instance, when DORIS JONES, Dean of Nursing at the University of North Carolina, came back to visit, she had a difficult time in locating the rooms she had reserved. She was looking for them at the mansion instead of in the town.

This afternoon I have been very relaxed and lazy. On my way down to the lake for a swim I met LENA CORNATZER, the fashion expert; ALICE FAYE ELLIS, the world-renowned jazzy pianist; and WAYNE LEONARD, who owns the world's largest department store. WAYNE tells me that HAROLD TRIVETTE has amassed a small fortune from his invention of a combination fly-spray and bean duster. Alice Faye said that PEGGY COOK, the hair stylist at Warner Brothers, has created a new fad with the cut she gave SHIRLEY WYATT for her latest picture, "Smoke Screen." Lena added that OLA MAE COOK is having quite a job keeping Peggy's financial affairs straight during the rush. It's all she can do to count the money. We had a fine time reminiscing and gossiping.

Now, I must get ready for a party BETTY SUE MESSICK is giving in my honor tonight. Betty is known far and wide as a very charming and gracious hostess. I hope BETTY GREY BEAUCHAMP will be able to come. I haven't seen her since she became head of the Davie County health department. GAIL SHEEK has promised to come, even if she has to bring her three youngsters. I'm eagerly looking forward to this gathering.

I'll probably be back in New York by Thursday, after a short stop-over in Chicago. Expect me at rehearsal Friday morning.

Yours,
Evona

Reflections

Almost a quarter of a century has passed since USECO published its first schaol annual. As we review those pages of yesteryear, a pleasant thought comes to mind—on some tomorrow this, the nineteen hundred and fifty-five edition, will take its place in your heart as a pictarial history of the "good ole' days."

We know this baak will increase in value with the passing af each year, and are hanared to have played a part in recording it.
